Sustainability, CSR and carbon reduction are the current buzz words in business, they all take their roots in one single discipline ? Efficiency.

With a wealth of government incentives such as tax credits, interest free loans, grants and energy feed-in tariffs there has never been a better time to capitalise on efficiency.

Conversely, there is also the risk of significant penalties for inefficiency, as the government increases its crack down on inefficiency through increasingly tougher legislation.

How aware is your organisation of your exposure and of the incentives available?
